In Memoriam

Julian Hough 1959-2014

It was with a heavy heart I was informed of Julian's passing on May 28th, 2 days shy of his 55th birthday. Julian was a big man in many ways and heavily involved with the Campaign for Real Ale at local, regional and national levels. He was also a key figure in the introduction of the Derby scouts Christmas Stamp and Deliver scheme. On match nights for the Royal Oak darts team, which he captained for a while, the last leg was usually reserved for Julian as, it was so succinctly put at his service, his birth was the only time he was ever early! Julian touched many people during his life and it was evident at the packed Spondon Methodist Church on June 12th for the celebration of his life. He will be massively missed by many. An outstanding £3000+ has been raised for the Oesophagus Patients Association. Our thoughts are with Gillian and all his family at this sad time. Sleep easy Big J

Sad news has reached us that David Brett passed away on June 14th - a true gent and a real stalwart for CAMRA and real ale. The Mansfield CAMRA chairman will be greatly missed and we send our condolences to his family

Andy has introduced a new beer called Rammie's Pale, which was available at the Marlpool Brewery Tap. It was a one off originally intended to celebrate Derby County's thrashing of Nottingham Forest but took a new turn after the play-off exploits. At the Bradford CAMRA beer festival Marlpool's regular mild - Blind Boris - was voted best beer in the 'up to 3.7%' category

Good Beer Guide listed

My old sparring partner, Lord Gedford of Cutterworth, decided that he needed to visit his rural estates in Yorkshire to see if a few peasants needed oppressing so we planned a day out in Huddersfield to see what that town had to offer in the way of pubs and beer. Well, not all of this is strictly accurate but hey, I'm trying to maintain reader interest here, OK? We took the train from Derby with a change at Sheffield giving us enough time for a swift half in the Sheffield Tap. An off-peak return is £20.30 - split your ticket in Sheffield and take the Penistone Line on to Huddersfield - it's a bit slow but quite scenic. I tried the Dark Star Meltdown 4.8% but Ged noticed that it had "a hint of spice" and went for the Tapped (in-house) Bramling 4.2% instead. A wise decision unless you like MORE than a hint of ginger and cloves in your ale! The railway station in Huddersfield is an impressive building, which was unfortunately shrouded in scaffolding and tarpaulins undergoing renovation at the time of our visit. Its neo-classical facade was described by John Betjeman as the most splendid in England. It also houses two pubs (the GBG King's Head and the Head Of Steam) but more of those later. Huddersfield has 7 pubs listed in the GBG of which 2 are brewpubs (Rat & Ratchet and the Sportsman). There are also many small breweries in the locality (Mallinson's, Hand Drawn Monkey, Magic Rock, Milltown and many others). We started our tour at the Star Inn, a GBG regular and deservedly so. This pub has a very local feel and we were given a friendly welcome. There were ten handpumps serving beers from a variety of breweries: Black Hill, Abbeydale, Five Towns, Brough and so on. We tried Briggs Rock 'n' Roll 4%, which I wasn't so sure about but Ged found it OK. Then Mallinson's Nelson Sauvín 4% and Pictish Brewers Gold 3.8% which were both good. Then it was on to the Rat & Ratchet, owned by Ossett Brewery since 2004 but which houses a micro-brewery (Rat) of its own. This is also a multi-award winning pub and for good reason. It had 12 ales on offer of which 7 were either from Rat or Ossett plus guests from Ilkley, Bradfield, Roosters, Black Sheep and Fullers. The pub has multiple rooms with plenty of bench seating and the barman was friendly and informative. We tried the White Rat 4%, Black Rat 4.5% and Ossett Junja 4% and all were excellent. It was difficult to drag ourselves away to the Grove... This "street-corner local" is situated just outside the ring road on the edge of a housing estate but is a light, airy building with the longest beer list of the day and an eclectic collection of artworks. There were 18 ales on the board from 14 breweries (plus lagers, kegs and ciders) so too many to list here. We tried Top Out Staple 4%, Magic Rock Rapture 4.6% and Oakham Paranoid 5.2% and all were in good order. We managed to navigate our way back across the ring road to find the Sportsman, which was the second of the day's brewpubs and the Huddersfield CAMRA POTY for 2011, 2012 and 2013! This too had a fine selection of beers available from many regional breweries (Mallinson's, First Chop, Marble) plus it's own Sportsman beers. The building has been tastefully decorated in an Art Deco style and was clearly popular with the local student population. We tried the First Chop Brewing Hop Ale 4.1% and a beer called Good Measure 3.9% but the details of where this came from have been lost along the way! And so finally we returned to the railway station to see what the King's Head and Head Of Steam were like. Both were extremely busy and so rather noisy but both had a good range of beers available (10 in each) with the King's Head probably catering more for the ale aficionado. Unfortunately, the King's Head was affected by the renovation works so we didn't see it at its best, but the beers were fine: Phoenix Black Shadow 4.0% and Bob's Chardonnay 5.1%. The Head Of Steam was clearly the more popular venue as it served teas & coffees and food as well as beer for the waiting travellers. We then had the long journey home along the Penistone Line with not even time in Sheffield for a last visit to the Sheffield Tap - so we ended the day at the Brunswick and a pint of James's excellent Rocket 4.7%. If you want to spend a day drinking in Huddersfield, I recommend checking out the blog www.aswiftone.com, which I discovered during the writing of this article. Mind you, I would have to take issue with the claim that Huddersfield is "arguably the UK's premier real ale town"! Pub of the day was the Grove for Ged but I think I would go for the Rat & Ratchet-Snug Dave

Eventually arriving at Winchelsea Beach after an 11-mile queue on the M25, I made straight for the most local option, this being the Ship. This is not really a pub now but more of a café bar but did at least offer a reasonable pint of Harvey's Sussex Best, which was to prove a popular local choice. The rear garden was amazing with a maze of paths & quirky seating - very relaxing after a long journey. On the first day we re-visited the William The Conqueror at Rye Harbour, which we had used as a local 3 years ago when staying nearby. It was still as tatty as ever but with the same landlord and offering good value food and a welcoming atmosphere. The Shepherd Neame beers do not change often with Spitfire, Master Brew & Spitfire (? - Ed) on offer. Later on we risked visiting the Bar 31 at Winchelsea Beach, which was not too salubrious but surprisingly the GK Old Golden Hen was quite decent with GK IPA not sampled. Next day a walk into Rye enabled a visit to a couple of pubs; the Mermaid was a posh black & white timbered hotel with a classic interior but did have 3 ales of good quality. I chose Sussex Best over St Austell Tribute & Proper Job and it was not as expensive as expected. On to the Ypres Castle for a return visit with Longman Long Blonde, Old Dairy Gold Top and Larkin's Best Bitter excellent during a lunch stop. Sussex Best and Adnams Broadside were also on and this must be a GBG candidate as there are currently none in Rye. As with most pubs in this area, becoming gastro like but maintains a pub feel with good staff. The nearby former GBG Standard had closed down and was having a refurb but whether re-opening as a pub I do not know. An evening visit to the New Inn at Winchelsea, which was a residential hotel with friendly staff, enabled sampling of Cotswold Spring Old Sodbury Mild and GK Gold Beach both of which were new to me. The latter was indeed very good but (recurring theme) GK IPA was not partaken. We moved on to the GBG Queens Head at Icklesham, which had an excellent beer selection but a barmaid with the personality of a stone, unless you were a familiar local. The beers were Tring Moon Gazer, Dark Star American Pale Ale & 6 Hop, Harvey's Sussex Best & Knots In May, Old Dairy Spring Top and GK IPA & Abbot. On the wall I spotted a 1976 Fete Programme signed by the obscure duo of Rod Hull and Rolf Harris who I am sure would have been more amenable than the barmaid. Another evening we visited the GBG Sawyers Arms at Pett for a meal with an enthusiastic landlord offering good food and a choice of Dark Star Hophead & Sunburst, Harvey's Sussex Best and Ringwood 49er. Further down the road also in Pett & GBG the Royal Oak looked another good dining bet and the landlord was particularly friendly (perhaps because there was hardly anyone in). The beer range was disappointing with just 3 ales - Harvey's Sussex Best, Dark Star Hophead and GK OSH. Both pubs worthy of a visit but very few drinkers in midweek, although plenty of diners early doors. Because of the particularly inclement weather during the week so far we decided to get a bus into Hastings in the daytime as the bus service ended about 7pm. Needless to say the weather improved dramatically as I was able to visit some GBG pubs. The Dolphin is under the cliffs at Rock A Nor with Kings Kiwi Warrior, Pig & Porter Red Spider, Dark Star Hophead & American Pale Ale, Young's Special and Harvey's Sussex Best. The first 2 were totally unknown to me but were very good; this was to prove the best pub visited during the week with very friendly bar staff and a great pub atmosphere. I thanked them for their welcome, pointing out that GBG pubs also need the good service, which they had offered, this proved to be somewhat poignant with what was to follow. My next target was the GBG Stag but this had not yet opened so I looked in at the Cinque Ports on the same road but this was also closed. Not too far was the GBG First In Last Out, tap for the FILO brewery, which was open. There were 5 FILO beers on plus a guest ale, Blindman's Fuddy Farm but the barmaid left a lot to be desired and was only interested in eaters and known locals - take lessons from the Dolphin please. Nevertheless a good beer choice with the tap beers being Mike's Mild 3.4%, Crofter's Best Bitter 3.8%, Churches Pale Ale 4.2%, Old Town Tom 4.5% & Gold Premium Ale 4.8%. Still a good place but since my last visit becoming more of a gastro pub although to be fair the food did look very good. I did sample all of the beers here but was glad to be rescued by the Old Fruit as we set off to the seafront. Here we soon located the GBG White Rock, which is a proper seaside hotel. By now the weather was scorching & we sat outside feeling like traditional British holidaymakers on the pleasant terrace area overlooking the sea. The beer selection was very interesting and good quality with Hastings Handmade, Franklins English Garden, Harvey's Olympia and Dark Star Original. This finished the day off in excellent style before the return bus trip. The only other place visited on the last day was the Smugglers at Pett Level for an evening meal, a fairly routine eating house with Harvey's Sussex Best, Dark Star Hophead and Doombur available but at least it was within reach by bike. Overall some good beer to be found in this area with Harvey's, Shepherd Neame and Hophead prominent and with more food-type pubs than at home but still not many people in during midweek-Chris P Duck

RuRAD Supporting Local Beer Festivals

On Saturday May 24th I visited the Bell at Smalley and found a range of some 7 festival beers and a cider on offer, with a selection of 5 or 6 ales on the main bar. I started with the Storming Auburn from Hartshorns while the better half went for the Dark Side of the Moon from Purple Moose. Other beers included B.G. Sips from Blue Monkey, Fluffer from Leadmill, Reverend James from Brains, Absolution from Abbeydale and Gold from Dancing Duck. The cider available was Haymaker from Gwynt-y-Ddraig. Not a bad outside festival and always worth a look at - Charisma BigFoz says: Good choice of beers. Particularly from the brewery at the back of the pub but I'm not that struck on the pub itself...bit run down.

GhostDad says: The decor is so out of date and so bad it looks like I did it.

BigFoz says: That's pretty bad.

GhostDad says: That's awful.

BigFoz says: But sitting here, in the sun, glass of beer in hand; at the top of a cliff, looking out over the sea, what a view, eh?

GhostDad says: There's something not right here.

BigFoz says: Don't start that; there's not a trace of whitebait and no sign of any folk singers.

GhostDad says: No, but what's that crowd doing at the bottom of the hill; by that jetty thing?

BigFoz says: Oh, yeah and there's some white things moving about in a jerky and seemingly random manner. (Looks through a pair of binoculars towards the bottom of the hill.) Oh, no, it's worse than folk singers, dad.

GhostDad says: What's worse than folk singers?

BigFoz says: Morris dancers!

GhostDad says: Aaaaagh! Crank up that ruddy red rattletrap of yours and let's get out of here!

BigFoz (running for once) says: Already on it, dad!

(News has just reached us that the pub has changed hands and the new owners are addressing the decorative shortcomings mentioned above!)

BigFoz says: Right, nothing is going to spoil this: no folk singers, no Morris dancers...

GhostDad says: ...no whitebait...

BigFoz says: ...pub's a bit shabby but it's good beer and a great view. Who would have thought that something man-made like the Ribbleshead Viaduct would add so much to the scene.

GhostDad says: Does at Monsal Head but John Ruskin didn't think so.

BigFoz says: '...and now, every fool in Buxton can be in Bakewell in half an hour...'

GhostDad says: Just leave it there:

BigFoz says: Makes you glad you're from Belper.

GhostDad says: Probably not.
